Regensburg, August 8th – The MMORPG Tibia reaches its next milestone as the subscriber base now numbers more than 100,000 players.

“This finally promotes Tibia to the rank of a major MMORPG.” says Guido Lübke, responsible Managing Director of CipSoft, the developer of Tibia. “We always believed in the product and kept developing new features, released new updates and approached new markets, but seeing the counter turn to the magic number was surely a grand moment in the company’s history”

Just having celebrated its 10th anniversary, Tibia is one of the oldest but still growing MMORPGs worldwide. Currently, more than 300,000 international players log in to Tibia on a regular basis, with most of them being registered as Free Accounts at no charge.

To celebrate this event the lucky player who purchased the 100,000th active Premium Account has been rewarded with some very rare in game items and a 1-year voucher to extend his subscription.

“This is a magnificent milestone, which we just passed,” says Florian Eckert, Product Manager of Tibia. “but it’s just one step in a long series still to come. Our development pipeline is packed and the next milestones already in reach.”
