CipSoft releases new iPad Game: Armored Conflict

Regensburg, 31 January, 2014 — A conflict in the future. High-tech tanks are conquering the battlefield. As of today, Armored Conflict, the new Tank MOBA Game from the developer CipSoft gives you the chance to take on an important role in that conflict.

In Armored Conflict you can fight using a futuristic battle tank and team up with up to eight friends. You need to control strategic locations to achieve victory. As you'd expect from a MOBA game, each tank has individual and powerful skills to wipe out the enemy. Overall, you can choose between nine unique tanks with different functions on the battlefield.

"We're proud of the release of Armored Conflict." revealed Matthias Rudy, responsible Project Leader at CipSoft. "With only six months' time and three core developers it was an ambitious project, but in the end it became a fun and deep game."

"Making a mobile game for tablet devices only was a bold choice, but first numbers and download figures seem to prove it was a good one." Rudy stated.

In the last days CipSoft released a small update, which should further improve the matchmaking of the game. The developer is now welcoming players to its new app which can be downloaded for free in the App store. Armored Conflict works with iPad 2, iPad mini or newer and requires iOS 6.0 or later. An android client is already in development.
